

RELAY

A VERSATILE BENCH SYSTEM

Versatile Working within Budget

Relay is a practical bench system, which offers advanced features on a simple and adaptive, yet extremely cost effective platform. A robust and flexible sub frame naturally accommodates shifting work arrangements and technological demands.

Supporting flexible working

Relay provides a durable and functional solution for every working environment.

Flexible work patterns

Ease of communication and movement

A Complete System Specified to Your Budget

Relay's systemised structure can be specified to the level of sophistication required. It simply adapts to your working styles, available budget and grows with your organisation.

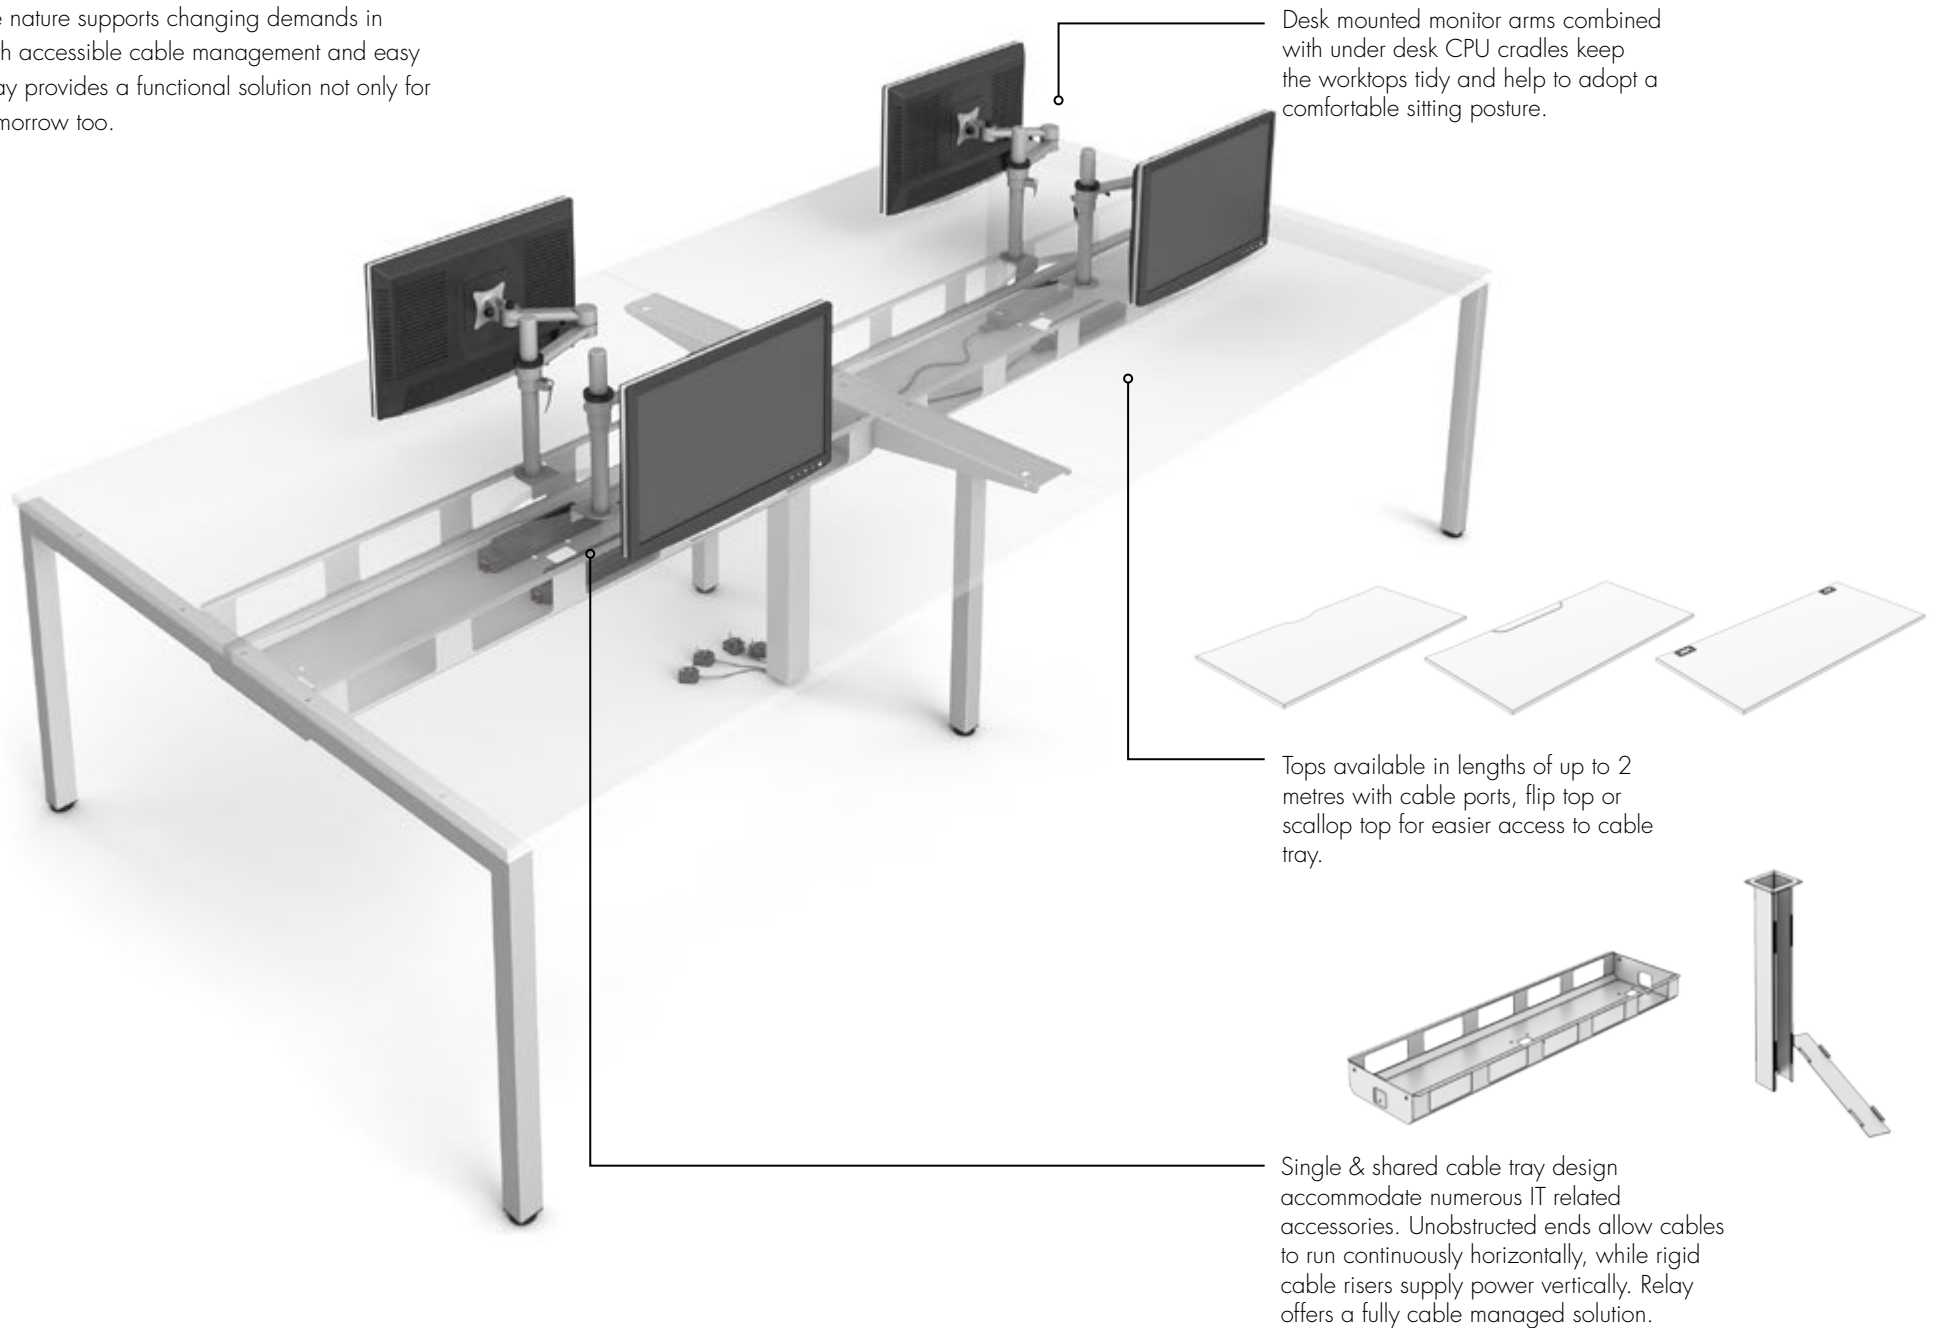

Screens are available in Fabric and MFC to compliment the worktops with a plastic top cap and three different Aluminium top cap profiles to choose from.

A wide variety of screen and worktop mounted accessories are available to suit your needs

1600mm and 1200mm double leg frame and 800mm and 600mm single leg frame available to offer single and double desk runs. Relay can be used with or without screens, using an infill rail where no screens are required.

Integrating Your Technology

Relay's adaptive nature supports changing demands in technology. With accessible cable management and easy connectivity Relay provides a functional solution not only for today but for tomorrow too.

Slide and Connect

Relay Plus is the latest addition to the Relay bench system with improved connectivity.

Designed with sliding tops, Relay Plus provides easy access to cable trays from the desktop. Wires, connections and sockets are easy to install, hide and access whenever necessary.

Adapting to Your Office

Relay is not just a linear bench. 120 Degree clusters are ideal for improving team interaction and communication. Compatibility with linear Relay offers a variety of new configurations.

Your Work Style

Open, low level configurations provide a platform to collaborative workspace, whilst managerial end desks encourage team work.

However you work, Relay can be adapted to suit your organisation's exact work style.
